

Review

Not peer-reviewed version

---

The New Digital Economy and Sustainability: Challenges and Opportunities

---

Albérico Travassos Rosário * and Joana Carmo Dias

Posted Date: 8 May 2023

doi: 10.20944/preprints202305.0465.v1

Keywords: new digital economy; sustainability

Preprints.org is a free multidiscipline platform providing preprint service that is dedicated to making early versions of research outputs permanently available and citable. Preprints posted at Preprints.org appear in Web of Science, Crossref, Google Scholar, Scilit, Europe PMC.

Copyright: This is an open access article distributed under the Creative Commons Attribution License which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original work is properly cited.

Review

The New Digital Economy and Sustainability: Challenges and Opportunities

Albérico Rosário <sup>1,*</sup> and Joana Carmo Dias <sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The Research Unit on Governance, Competitiveness and Public Policies (GOVCOPP), Universidade Europeia, 1200-649 Lisbon, Portugal; alberico@ua.pt

<sup>2</sup> Centro de Investigação em Organizações, Mercados e Gestão Industrial (COMEGI), Universidade Lusíada, 1349-001 Lisbon, Portugal; Universidade Europeia; joana.carmo.dias@universidadeeuropeia.pt

* Correspondence: alberico@ua.pt

Abstract: This study aims to analyze the interconnection between the concepts of digital economy and sustainability. These concepts have become popular due to awareness of climate change and increased development and adoption of technologies. Researchers, business leaders and policymakers are exploring the many ways digital technologies can be used to address sustainability issues. Using a systematic literature review with a bibliometric analysis, we examined a sample of 92 studies indexed in SCOPUS to identify research activity on this topic through April 2023. We found that 2022 had the highest number of peer-reviewed papers on the subject, with 31 publications. During the research, we also identified multiple opportunities for this interconnection, such as developing renewable energy and sustainable technological solutions, smart cities and sustainable urbanization, and sustainable consumption. These opportunities enabled by digital technologies allow companies to adopt sustainable business strategies and develop sustainable products. Despite these opportunities, the digital economy presents several challenges that can hinder efforts to achieve sustainability goals, such as increased e-waste, high energy consumption and rising carbon emissions, digital divide, job insecurity, growing monopolies, and data protection. These issues must be addressed to enable optimal use of the opportunities presented in the digital economy to promote sustainability.

Keywords: new digital economy; sustainability

---

1. Introduction

In recent years, the rapid evolution of the digital economy has been facilitated by emerging disruptive technologies that have transformed business practices and consumption. These innovations changed technological, economic, and socio-cultural phenomena, thus transforming conventional forms of commercial exchange. According to Pan et al. [1], the origin of the term "digital economy" dates back to the 1990s and refers to a form of economy originating from networked intelligence. However, the concept was officially recognized at the Hangzhou Summit of G20 leaders in 2016. Information technology is the core of the digital economy, while the modern network functions as the operator (Pan et al., 2022). Thus, the digital economy is defined as the global network of economic activities, professional interactions and commercial exchanges facilitated by information and communication technologies (ICT). It indicates the world's transition to the fourth industrial revolution. Technologies such as big data and analytics, artificial intelligence, machine learning, cloud computing and virtual reality are changing the business landscape [2]. For example, these technologies require companies to modify their business models to accommodate the innovations. As a result, many markets have been disrupted, traditional businesses are under enormous pressure, and consumer behaviors and expectations have changed. Companies in the digital economy are restructuring their marketing strategies and means of communication and consumer connection. Thus, digital technology creates opportunities for companies to improve efficiency and performance.

Conversations about the digital economy are often characterized by two main issues: the potential of ICTs and the impact on sustainability. Sustainable development is concerned with improving human well-being and is measured through crucial indicators such as satisfaction of needs, respect for human rights, security, social relations, and freedom of choice [3]. The technologies that characterize the digital economy contribute to sustainable development, providing innovations that help improve people's standard of living and providing advanced techniques to protect the planet, ensuring organizational profitability. In this case, ICT is integrated into the three pillars of sustainability - environmental, social, and economic [4]. However, the positive results of the digital revolution taking hold of global economies are associated with multiple sustainability concerns. While technology and the internet are a huge boost to sustainable development, they raise issues related to consumer protection, invasion of privacy, and cybersecurity issues [5]. As a result, most companies struggle to balance exploiting opportunities in the digital economy to support sustainable development while mitigating potential challenges that can undermine efforts. This systematic literature review with bibliometric analysis (SLRBA) provides insights into opportunities and challenges of the digital economy in a sustainability context to support business professionals' efforts to integrate advanced technologies in a sustainable development context.

2. Materials and Methods

A systematic literature review with bibliometric analysis (SLRBA) was performed to identify relevant sources. A significant benefit of this study is that it allows the author to assess the sources, clearly explaining why some articles, books and conferences were included or excluded from the research. The SLRBA methodology involves conducting a thorough literature search for published studies while providing an audit trail of procedures and conclusions. This process ensures that only high-quality sources with defined methodologies are selected and synthesized in the review, resulting in representative and quality results. Given that this research aims to provide practical insights that can be adopted in business practice to aid decision-making and strategy-making, a detailed methodology such as the SLRBA is required.

To initiate the SLRBA, the academic database that helps identify relevant sources was identified, namely SCOPUS, for its recognition as one of the "largest databases of curated abstracts and citations" due to its global coverage of scientific journals, conferences, and books [6] (p.1). It also uses rigorous content screening and re-evaluation by an independent content screening and advisory board to ensure that only the highest quality data is indexed.

The SLRBA involves screening and selecting information sources to ensure the validity and accuracy of data presented in a process consisting of 3 phases and 6 steps [7–9] (Table 1).

Table 1. Process of systematic literature review with bibliometric analysis.

Fase	Step	Description
Exploration	Step 1	formulating the research problem
	Step 2	searching for appropriate literature
	Step 3	critical appraisal of the selected studies
	Step 4	data synthesis from individual sources
Interpretation	Step 5	reporting findings and recommendations
Communication	Step 6	Presentation of the SLRBA report

The SCOPUS database was used to identify relevant sources for analysis. The search process started with the keyword "digital economy", resulting in 7,870 results. Then the exact keyword "sustainability" was added, which reduced the results to 92 documents. These 92 documents are distributed in 62 articles, 13 conference papers, 11 book series and 6 books.

Table 2. Screening Methodology.

Database SCOPUS	Screening	Publications
Meta-search	keyword: digital economy	7,870
Inclusion Criteria	keyword: digital economy	92
	Exact keyword: sustainability
Screening	keyword: digital economy	92
	Exact keyword: sustainability
	Published until April 2023

Source: own elaboration.

3. Literature analysis: themes and trends

Peer-reviewed documents were reviewed until April 2023 (Figure 1). 2022 was the year with the most peer-reviewed papers, with 31 publications. Publications were classified as follows: Swiss Sustainability (27); International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health (5); Class Notes on Networks and Systems (4); Frontiers of Psychology (3); Economic Research Ekonomiska Istrazivanja (2); Resource Policy (2); and the remaining publications with 1 document.

Figure 1. Documents by year. Source: own elaboration.

In Table 1 we analyze the Scimago Journal & Country Rank (SJR), the best quartile and the H index per publication. The best ranked journal is Earth S Future with 2510 (SJR), Q1 and H index 61. There are a total of 12 journals in Q1, 8 journals in Q2, 2 journals in Q3 and 6 journals in Q4. Thus, the best quartile Q1 represents 22%, Q2 represents 15%, Q3 represents 4%, and Q4 represents 3%. As evident from Table 1, the significant majority of articles on Education entrepreneurship Sustainability rank on the Q1 best quartile index.

Table 1. Scimago journal & country rank impact factor.

Title	SJR	Best Quartile	H Index
Earth S Future	2,510	Q1	61
Technology In Society	1,490	Q1	69
Resources Policy	1,460	Q1	80
Annals Of Operations Research	1,170	Q1	111
Frontiers In Public Health	1,130	Q1	80
Frontiers In Environmental Science	1,010	Q1	61

Frontiers In Psychology	0,870	Q1	133
International Journal Of Environmental Research And Public Health	0,810	Q1	138
Sustainability Switzerlan	0,660	Q1	109
Economic Research Ekonomska Istrazivanja	0,570	Q2	35
Advances In Civil Engineering Materials	0,550	Q2	15
Journal Of Business Economics And Management	0,500	Q2	45
Foresight	0,480	Q2	36
Management And Marketing	0,480	Q2	19
Interaction Design And Architecture S	0,360	Q1	16
Regional Research Of Russia	0,340	Q1	15
Izvestiya Rossiiskoi Akademii Nauk Seriya Geograficheskaya	0,310	Q1	12
Journal Of Corporate Law Studies	0,290	Q2	11
Investigaciones Regionales	0,280	Q2	20
Frontiers In Artificial Intelligence	0,250	Q4	61
Journal Of Environmental Protection And Ecology	0,250	Q3	25
Journal Of Siberian Federal University Humanities And Social Sciences	0,250	Q2	10
ACM International Conference Proceeding Series	0,230	.*	128
Ceur Workshop Proceedings	0,230	.*	57
Advances In Intelligent Systems And Computing	0,220	Q4	48
Communications In Computer And Information Science	0,210	Q4	55
Emerald Emerging Markets Case Studies	0,190	Q4	7
Proceedings Of Institution Of Civil Engineers Energy	0,190	Q4	24
Contaduria Y Administracion	0,180	Q3	16
E3s Web Of Conferences	0,180	.*	33
Lecture Notes In Networks And Systems	0,150	Q4	22
2011 International Conference On E Business And E Government Icee2011 Proceedings	0	.*	6
Contributions To Conflict Management Peace Economics And Development	0	.*	6
Greener Management International	0	.*	44
Proceedings Of The 2nd World Conference On Smart Trends In Systems Security And Sustainability Worlds4 2018	0	.*	6
Proceedings Of The 33rd International Business Information Management Association Conference Ibima	0	.*	14
2019 Education Excellence And Innovation Management Through Vision 2020	0	.*	14
Proceedings Of The Annual Hawaii International Conference On System Sciences	0	.*	95

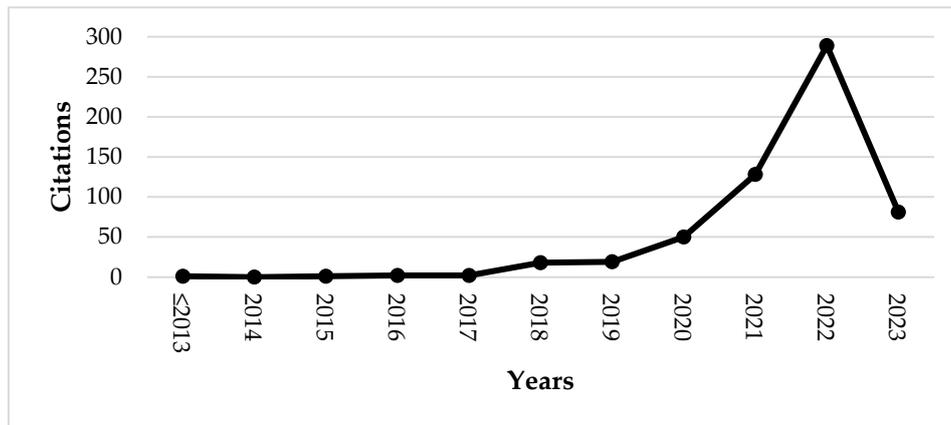

Webist 2006 2nd International Conference On Web Information Systems And Technologies Proceedings	0	_*	7
15th Annual IEEE International Systems Conference Syscon 2021 Proceedings	_*	_*	_*
2022 IEEE Technology And Engineering Management Society Conference Asia Pacific Temscon Aspac 2022	_*	_*	_*
Csr Sustainability Ethics And Governance	_*	_*	_*
Economics Law And Institutions In Asia Pacific	_*	_*	_*
Future Of Innovation And Technology In Education
Policies And Practices For Teaching And Learning Excellence	_*	_*	_*
Iccc 2022 IEEE 10th Jubilee International Conference On Computational Cybernetics And Cyber Medical Systems Proceedings	_*	_*	_*
Oxford Handbook Of Digital Technology And Society	_*	_*	_*
Oxford Handbook Of Industrial Hubs And Economic Development	_*	_*	_*
Oxford Handbook Of Luxury Business	_*	_*	_*
Preparing A Workforce For The New Blue Economy People Products And Policies	_*	_*	_*
Proceedings 2021 IEEE European Symposium On Security And Privacy Workshops Euro S And Pw 2021	_*	_*	_*
Proceedings 2022 23rd International Arab Conference On Information Technology Acit 2022	_*	_*	_*
Research For Development	_*	_*	_*
Scientific Horizons	_*	_*	_*
Social Business Models In The Digital Economy New Concepts And Contemporary Challenges	_*	_*	_*
Techno Review International Technology Science And Society Review Revista Internacional De Tecnologia	_*	_*	_*
Ciencia Y Sociedad
World Sustainability Series	_*	_*	_*

Note: *data not available. Source: own elaboration.

The thematic areas covered by the 92 scientific and/or academic documents were: Social Sciences (48); Environmental Sciences (44); Computer Science (33); Engineering (31); Energy (30); Business, Management and Accounting (16); Economics, Econometrics and Finance (13); Medicine (7); Decision Sciences (4); Earth and Planetary Sciences (3); Psychology (3); Agricultural and Biological Sciences (2); Materials Science (1); Mathematics (1); and, Pharmacology, Toxicology and Pharmaceuticals (1).

The most cited article was Governance Strategies for a Sustainable Digital World, by Linkov et al. (2018), with 76 citations published in Sustainability with 0.660 (SJR), the best quartile (Q1) and an H index (109). This article aims to analyze three governance strategies that countries can use with adaptive governance to respond to sustainability threats from digitalization.

In Figure 2, we can analyze the evolution of document citations until April 2023. The number of citations shows a positive net growth with R2 of 49% for 2022, with 289 citations, with a total of 591 citations.

Figure 2. Evolution of citations between ≤2013–2023 period. Source: own elaboration.

Figure 2. Evolution of citations between ≤2012 and December 2022. Source: own elaboration.

The h-index was used to verify the productivity and impact of published works based on the most significant number of included articles with at least the same number of citations. Of the documents considered for the h-index, 12 were cited at least 12 times.

In Appendix A, Table A1, citations of all scientific and/or academic documents until April 2023 are analyzed; 16 documents were not cited in this period, making a total of 517 citations.

The study of bibliometric results, using the scientific software VOSviewer, aims to identify the main research keywords in studies related to the digital economy and sustainability. The node's size indicates the occurrence of the keyword, that is, the frequency with which the keyword appears. The connection between the nodes denotes the co-occurrence of the keywords; that is, they occur at the same time or together. Keyword co-occurrences are indicated by their thickness, that is, how often two or more keywords arise simultaneously. The keyword frequency increases with the node's size, the thickness of the links connecting the nodes, and the frequency of co-occurrences between the keywords. Each color represents a thematic cluster, where the nodes and links within the cluster can be used to explain the thematic coverage of the theme (represented by the nodes within the cluster) and the connections between the nodes that make up the theme (represented by the links within the cluster).

The research was based on the analyzed digital economy and sustainability articles. The associated keywords are presented in Figures 3 and 4, making clear the network of keywords that appear together/linked in each scientific article, thus allowing us to know the topics studied by the researchers and identify future research trends.

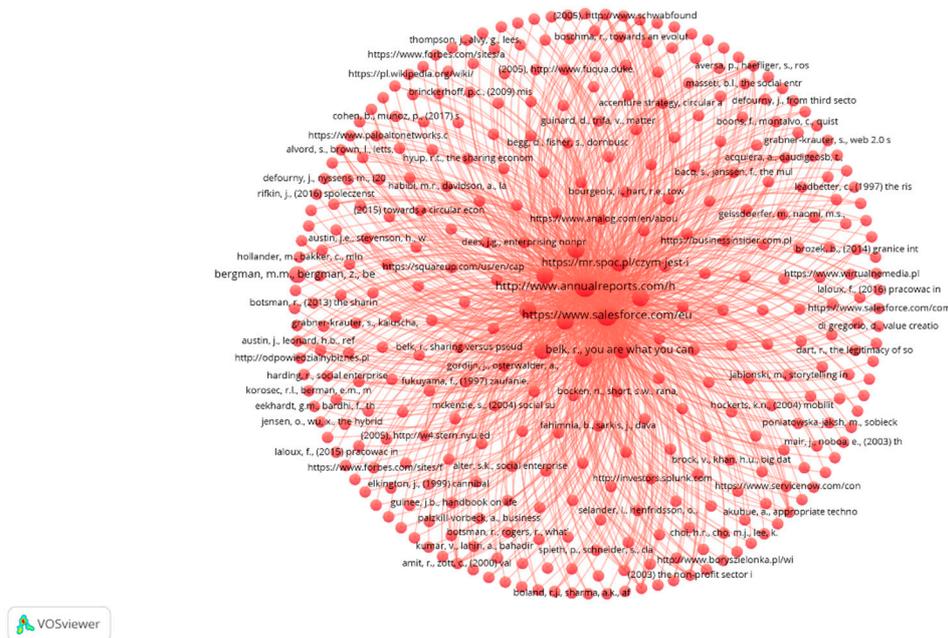

Figure 5. The profusion of co-citation.

4. Theoretical perspectives

The intersection of the digital economy and sustainability creates challenges and opportunities for entrepreneurs, policymakers, and society. For example, the digital economy promotes sustainable development through innovations such as green technologies and circular economy models [10]. It also offers opportunities that expand digital inclusion and empowerment. However, the rapid growth of the digital economy also presents several challenges, including high energy consumption, e-waste, and pollution. In recent years, there has also been an increase in cybersecurity issues, including consumer concerns about data privacy and security and cyberattacks [11]. Therefore, a comprehensive literature review is needed to assess the relationship between the digital economy and sustainability to create appropriate strategies that address the challenges while enabling companies to seize the opportunities.

4.1. Conceptualization of the Digital Economy

The term 'digital economy' refers to economic activities and transactions using digital technologies such as smartphones, the internet, computers, and tablets. Although the concept has become increasingly popular in the 2010s, its origin dates back to the creation of the internet and the emergence of personal computers in the 1980s [12]. The invention of the world wide web and smartphones in the late 1980s and 1990s were important milestones in developing the digital economy. These technologies have continuously digitized and transformed the environment and business practices, causing significant transformations. Recent technologies result from advancing these technologies [13,14]. For example, they have transformed the production, distribution and consumption processes of goods and services. The digital economy involves several sectors, including e-commerce, digital media, software development and online services [15]. It has also resulted in new forms of entrepreneurship, innovation, collaboration, and business models that empower companies and business leaders to leverage the latest innovations to achieve maximum productivity and efficiency. It is therefore considered one of the main engines of economic growth and development in the 21st century.

Several distinctive features characterize the digital economy and differentiate it from traditional economies. Firstly, the digital economy has high connectivity and interdependence through networks and digital platforms [16]. For example, businesses and consumers can connect in real-time, regardless of geographic distance or time zone differences, through digital technologies such as the Internet and social media platforms. According to Rappitsch [17], 95% of the global population lives in areas covered by a mobile cellular network. Furthermore, this author indicated that one out of every two people in the world uses the Internet, with nearly half of global households having access to a personal computer. Therefore, the Internet has a high reach, which allows people from different regions to have access to content published online [18].

Additionally, they can send messages and collaborate on creating value or addressing miscellaneous issues. Second, the digital economy is characterized by the effective use of data [19]. Data technologies such as big data, analytics, and artificial intelligence fuel the growth of the digital economy. These innovations help generate and collect unprecedented data, increasing companies' access to insights into consumer behavior, market trends, and other business-critical information [20]. Third, the digital economy is characterized by disruptive technologies that facilitate rapid innovation and disruption. As a result, companies can produce and launch new products, services, and business models at a pace previously unimaginable.

The digital economy presents several benefits that can contribute to economic growth, innovation, and development. For example, it facilitates the creation and dissemination of knowledge. Organizations and individuals can use digital technologies to access and share information and knowledge [21]. As a result, it enabled new forms of collaboration and learning, new products and services, and expanded companies' access to new markets and opportunities. The digital economy is also associated with greater efficiency and productivity [21,23]. Companies are leveraging digital technologies to streamline their operations, improve the accuracy and speed of decision-making, and automate repetitive tasks. For example, advanced communication channels facilitate quick communication and collaboration between business leaders, thus ensuring easy task execution and timely decision-making [24]. As a result, companies are experiencing greater productivity and cost savings and better consumer outcomes. Finally, the digital economy has created new jobs and employment opportunities, especially in technology development, digital marketing, and e-commerce.

4.2. Conceptualization of the Sustainability

The concept of sustainability has become increasingly popular in recent decades due to increased awareness and concerns about environmental issues such as climate change, biodiversity loss and social inequality. It was further popularized by the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, which indicates that achieving sustainable development requires consideration of three main dimensions: environmental, social, and economic [25]. Sustainable development is concerned with ensuring organizational financial performance while protecting people and the planet. In this case, sustainability can be defined as the capacity of a system to last a long time without degrading or depleting the resources on which it depends [25,26]. Thus, sustainability is concerned with meeting the needs of the current generation without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs [28]. According to this concept, companies should adopt sustainable business models that exploit current resources using approaches that do not threaten the health and well-being of present and future generations [29]. As a result, global leaders and policymakers consider sustainability a fundamental principle underpinning a range of policies and governance structures at the local, national, and international levels.

Sustainability can be defined from three interrelated perspectives: environmental, social, and economic. Environmental sustainability concerns preserving and improving natural resources, including water, biodiversity, air and soil [30]. Therefore, environmental sustainability includes strategies that help ensure that human activities do not exceed the Earth's capacity to support life and protect the resilience and adaptability of ecosystems. This dimension of sustainability focuses on maintaining an ecological balance in the planet's natural environment, conserving natural resources [31]. Social sustainability is about improving the well-being of people and communities, addressing issues such as equity, social justice, human rights, and cultural diversity [32]. As a result, it promotes equal access to basic needs such as food, water, shelter, and health care. In this case, the social dimension of sustainable development prioritizes building resilient infrastructure and promoting sustainable and inclusive economic growth that ensures equity.

Furthermore, social sustainability ensures that all people can fully participate in decisions that affect their lives [33]. Finally, economic sustainability is concerned with wealth creation and resource allocation, focusing on long-term viability and stability. This dimension promotes sustainable economic activities that help companies achieve goals without depleting natural resources or harming social welfare [34]. These dimensions of sustainability are crucial to promoting and achieving sustainable development and eradicating poverty. However, achieving sustainability requires collaboration across all sectors of society, including government, business, civil society, and individuals [35]. It requires shifting towards more sustainable practices and behaviors and adopting innovative technologies and governance models that support sustainability.

4.3. The Relationship Between Digital Economy and Sustainability

The concepts of digital economy and sustainability are closely linked. The digital economy is characterized by technologies that can help reduce carbon emissions and promote circular economies, thus supporting sustainability. Esses et al. [36] explain that strategies and solutions based on digital technology increase environmental sustainability through areas such as pollution control and sustainable urban development, transport, and production systems. Advanced technologies in the digital economy empower business leaders and policymakers to assess and monitor business activities and regulations to promote sustainable development [37,38]. For example, companies can use these technologies to monitor their carbon footprint and employ measures to reduce emissions.

Similarly, policymakers can use data collected and analyzed using digital technologies to establish legal frameworks that encourage rapid transition to sustainable business practices [25]. These cases indicate that sustainability can be achieved by adopting digital technologies that improve the sustainable exploitation of resources and allow the generation of renewable energy. For example, energy companies can integrate advanced innovations to build smart grid technologies that can help optimize electricity distribution, promote renewable energy generation, and reduce waste [39]. These instances show that the digital economy and sustainability are increasingly intertwined.

There are many ways in which the digital economy can enable sustainability. For example, resource efficiency is an essential principle of the digital economy. Companies are taking advantage of new digital technologies to deliver more value with less input, resulting in efficient use of resources [40,41]. For example, innovative solutions in the digital economy can help reduce the use of natural resources and waste. Companies using Internet of Things (IoT) technology can access real-time monitoring of energy usage [42]. Another way the digital economy supports sustainability is by promoting the circular economy. The circular economy model emphasizes the reuse and regeneration of materials and products to sustainably continue production [43,44]. It contributes to sustainability by closing and narrowing resource loops through durable product design, reuse, remanufacturing, repair, renovation, and recycling [45]. This means that the circular economy can reduce waste and pollution by always keeping products, components and materials at their highest value and usefulness. Digitizing the circular economy through innovative solutions helps to improve resource efficiency, product lifespan, customer relationships and resilience [46]. For example, leveraging digital platforms such as social media and e-commerce sites can enable the sharing and exchange of products and resources. In this case, customers can sell or exchange a product they are not using, thus reducing waste, and promoting resource efficiency [47]. Likewise, companies can leverage these platforms to collect these products or materials that can be used to remanufacture other products or be refurbished or repaired for resale.

The digital economy creates new opportunities for economic growth while minimizing environmental impacts, thereby supporting sustainable development. For example, the digital economy is characterized by increased development and adoption of renewable energy technologies, consequently minimizing dependence on fossil fuels, and reducing greenhouse gas emissions [48]. Likewise, digital technologies can enable the development of smart cities characterized by sustainable development practices, thus improving the quality of life of urban residents and communities. Finally, the digital economy promotes sustainable consumption [49]. Modern consumers have high access to information about the environmental impacts of products and services [50]. For example, smart packaging uses QR codes that allow customers to scan and access more product information, including sourcing and production. This practice helps them make informed consumption or purchase decisions, especially for customers who value sustainability and ethical business practices [51]. Furthermore, digital technologies such as blockchain improve transparency and accountability in supply chains, promoting sustainable production and consumption patterns [52]. Therefore, digital technologies that facilitate the growth of the digital economy present several innovative solutions and technologies that can help achieve sustainability.

4.4. Opportunities in the Digital Economy for Sustainability

The digital economy creates new opportunities for innovation, collaboration and empowerment that drive sustainability. With the world facing severe environmental and social challenges such as climate change and inequality, it has become essential to harness the power of digital technologies to develop a more sustainable and equitable future [53]. This section explores several opportunities identified in the research through which the digital economy promotes sustainability (Figure 6).

Figure 6. Opportunities in the Digital Economy for Sustainability.

4.4.1. Renewable Energy and Sustainable Technology Solutions

Power generation and consumption are huge issues at the core of sustainability. This is because energy production is associated with adverse environmental problems such as climate change, air and water pollution, and solid waste disposal [54]. The digital economy addresses these problems by presenting innovative opportunities for renewable energy, contributing to sustainability. Technological advancements in digital technologies have driven the growth of renewable energy technologies such as solar and wind power [55]. For example, organizations use digital technologies for efficient and effective monitoring and control of renewable energy systems [56]. As a result, they are experiencing higher energy production and decreased costs. In addition, the digital economy is characterized by smart grids, which use digital technologies to manage energy distribution and strengthen the reliance on renewable energy as a primary energy source.

The digital economy promotes responsible production and consumption through technological solutions. An example of such a solution is 3D printing, a digital manufacturing technology, to reduce waste and increase efficiency by facilitating on-demand production instead of mass production [57]. Mass production causes greater generation of greenhouse gases and increased waste, especially if all manufactured products are not consumed [58]. Advanced digital technologies in today's digital economy allow companies to create sharing and renting platforms that promote sustainable consumption patterns [59]. These digital platforms enable the circular economy model, thus promoting sustainable development.

4.4.2. Big Data and Analytics for Sustainability

Information and communication technologies are at the heart of the digital economy, which supports data-driven practices and decision-making. These innovations include big data and analytics, which help to collect and analyze large amounts of data to assist in making informed decisions [60]. One of the main ways that big data and analytics in the digital economy contribute to sustainability is by providing advanced tools to monitor and track environmental impacts. Companies can access data on factors such as greenhouse gas emissions, energy consumption, and water use through advanced analytical tools [61,62]. Data can be analyzed to gather information that allows an organization to determine areas to reduce environmental impact [63]. This practice can result in greater resource efficiency, lower energy use, and greater use of renewable energy.

Additionally, companies can take advantage of opportunities created through big data and analytics to optimize supply chains for sustainability [64]. For example, they can analyze data on the environmental impacts of different suppliers and products to make more informed supply chain management decisions. This can include collaborating with suppliers who prioritize sustainability and adopting strategies such as sustainable sourcing and manufacturing, efficient logistics and inventory management to reduce waste.

4.4.3. Consumer Empowerment and Value Co-creation

Environmental protection has become one of the leading global public agendas. This is evidenced by the public's sensitivity to how products are made and where they come from. For example, customers are more likely to boycott product sources from regions that exploit and violate human rights, including animal testing and exploitation [65]. Digital technologies empower these consumers by providing access to information about business practices in other countries or regions. Gazzola et al. [66] explain that innovation and competition in the digital economy trigger customer well-being through several aspects, including ever-changing customer demands and the rise of consumer protection laws. As mobile technologies advance, online skills, awareness and engagement of consumers increase [67]. As a result, they can better evaluate information correctly before making optimal purchasing or consumption decisions, including choosing environmentally friendly products and services. An empowered consumer can drive innovation and increase competition and productivity, resulting in sustainable development.

In addition, digital technologies offer value co-creation opportunities, where companies collaborate with customers to develop products and services. This approach helps ensure that final products meet customer needs and promote sustainability [68]. Involving customers in the entire value creation process provides brands with access to different perspectives, increases the generation of ideas and opportunities, and enhances collaboration, thereby building loyalty and trust [69,70]. For example, a company might work with customers asking for feedback and ratings to develop a product that reduces waste or uses renewable materials. This collaboration ensures that the product is practical, based on customer needs and promotes sustainability [71]. Therefore, this co-creation of sustainable value ensures that the company uses its resources to achieve the desired profitability, creating value for the communities served and maintaining sustainability.

4.4.4. Smart Cities and Sustainable Urbanization

Urbanization and industrialization have increased the number of people living in cities. This has increased carbon emissions, as evidenced in research by Bull and Azennoud [72], who argue that the population living in cities contributes two-thirds of global carbon dioxide emissions. To solve this problem, cities must change how they are managed and governed to achieve maximum energy efficiency [28]. The digital economy presents technologies for building smart cities and sustainable urbanization. A smart city uses emerging and advanced technologies and data to improve the quality of life of its residents while reducing the environmental impact [73]. Likewise, sustainable urbanization involves designing and developing cities to promote sustainability and support the well-being of residents [74]. Smart cities and sustainable urbanization promote sustainability by providing smart technologies to increase cities' ability to manage resources more efficiently, reduce waste and emissions, and improve public services [75]. For example, the city can install smart sensors to monitor air quality, traffic, and energy consumption. The collected data can be analyzed and interpreted to assist in making informed decisions about resource management.

Furthermore, sustainable urbanization can leverage digital platforms to influence residents' sustainable living practices. For example, online platforms can connect citizens with information about sustainable living practices and resources. Bull and Azennoud [72] report that 30% of a building's energy is wasted through the behaviors of its residents. City management can use the internet and social media platform to raise awareness and encourage behavioral changes to improve energy efficiency [76]. Furthermore, these communication platforms can raise awareness of the need for sustainable resources such as public transport, green spaces, and recycling facilities [77]. For example, cycling, ridesharing, and carpooling can reduce emissions and traffic congestion by reducing the number of cars on the road. Furthermore, these digital platforms can support citizen engagement and participation in city planning and decision-making.

4.4.5. Circular Economy and Sustainable Consumption

The dominant business model follows a take-discard strategy, which continues to cause significant environmental problems such as improper waste management. This challenge is evidenced in the commentary by Stahel [78], which indicates that one-third of global plastic waste is not collected or managed. Circular economy and sustainable consumption address this issue by encouraging a new model that replaces disposal with sustainable practices such as reuse, recycling, repair and remanufacturing [79]. The circular economy proposes transforming goods at the end of their service into resources for other products, thus reducing waste and closing cycles. According to Stahel [78], adopting the circular economy model can reduce each country's greenhouse gas emissions by 70% and increase job opportunities by 4%. Likewise, sustainable consumption can have comparable impacts on sustainability, as it encourages consumers to choose products and services that are environmentally friendly. An example of how the circular economy and sustainable consumption promote sustainability is the use of online marketplaces to sell and buy second-hand goods and facilitate the exchange of goods between individuals [43]. This can reduce waste and promote resource reuse.

Furthermore, advanced innovations such as the Internet of Things (IoT) can improve resource efficiency [80]. For example, they can monitor resource usage in real-time, thereby identifying inefficiencies and resource recovery opportunities. Therefore, taking advantage of these opportunities can help reduce the environmental impacts of business practices and consumer behavior.

4.4.6. Socially Responsible Business Models

In this era of global access to knowledge and information, modern companies understand the importance of incorporating social aspects into their business models. For example, the long-term success and sustainability of modern companies depend on the social acceptance of proposed solutions, including products and services [81]. As a result, socially responsible business models have become increasingly popular as they encourage companies to incorporate social and environmental considerations into decision-making and business operations [82]. Consumers demand environmentally friendly products and hold companies accountable for the impacts of their business activities on the environment and society. Therefore, the adoption of socially responsible business models has become a way for companies to develop and promote "socially acceptable" products since they incorporate consumers' sustainability concerns [83]. As a result, these models create value for all stakeholders, including communities, customers, employees, and the environment.

In addition, the digital economy promotes socially responsible business models through digital platforms that increase transparency and accountability in business operations. For example, it provides digital technologies to help companies track and report social and environmental performance, identifying opportunities to improve their sustainability practices [84]. Consequently, this approach can help build stakeholder trust, resulting in long-term performance. In addition, the digital economy promotes investments with social and environmental impact [40]. This investment strategy involves investing in businesses and projects that achieve positive social and ecological outcomes in addition to financial returns. As a result, this strategy offers investors greater access to capital and promotes sustainable economic growth.

4.4.7. Policy Interventions for the Sustainable Digital Economy

As the digital economy rapidly evolves, policymakers must develop regulatory frameworks that enable economic growth and innovation while ensuring social and environmental well-being. For example, local and international agencies have developed regulations and standards that promote sustainable digital economy practices, such as policies to reduce the carbon footprint [85,86]. In addition, some countries have standards to promote the use of sustainable materials in producing digital devices and equipment. Governments are also investing in research and development of sustainable digital technologies and providing incentives for companies that adopt these innovations [87]. These government resources are also extended to marginalized communities to improve access to digital technologies and infrastructure and support the development of digital skills and literacy. This initiative helps ensure that the digital economy is accessible and beneficial for everyone, thereby contributing to sustainable economic growth.

4.5. Challenges in the Digital Economy in Sustainability

Despite its benefits and opportunities, the digital economy presents significant challenges. For example, as digital technologies and platforms dominate various sectors, there are growing concerns about their negative impacts on the environment, society, and economy [88]. For example, some people are concerned about energy demand and consumption when running facilities like data centers, which are the backbone of the data-driven digital economy. Thus, it is necessary to assess the potential challenges that characterize the digital economy in sustainability to develop a more sustainable and responsible approach and promote innovation, growth and sustainability (Figure 7).

Figure 7. Challenges in the Digital Economy in Sustainability.

4.5.1. E-Waste and Pollution

The digital economy is characterized by rapid innovation and the emergence of new technologies that generate more e-waste, creating significant environmental and health risks. The lack of proper e-waste management systems compounds the problem, as most nations lack adequate infrastructure and resources to dispose of e-waste [89]. Unsustainable solutions, such as dumping e-waste in landfills or illegally exporting it to developing countries, are commonplace. Notably, most electronic waste is toxic and non-biodegradable [90]. When methods such as open-air burning and acid baths extract valuable materials from electronic components, toxic components are released into the environment, causing air, water, and soil pollution [91]. These components include mercury, polybrominated flame retardants, lead, barium, cadmium, and lithium, which can have profound health implications in surrounding communities.

4.5.2. Energy Consumption and Carbon Emissions

Electronic devices that support or increase the digital economy are associated with higher energy consumption or contribute even more to greenhouse gas emissions. For example, data centers typically consume a lot of electricity to power their servers, cool their facilities and provide backup power [92]. Furthermore, as the demand for high-performance devices and data-intensive applications continues to grow, technology manufacturers are producing and using more electronic devices [53]. These processes require significant energy inputs to facilitate activities such as extracting and processing raw materials and manufacturing and transporting devices [93]. Furthermore, high energy consumption and carbon emissions from the increased use of cloud-based services, media streaming and other data-intensive applications have become a crucial challenge in the digital economy [20]. Therefore, more research and development are needed to balance the opportunities created by digital technologies and their consequent environmental impacts.

4.5.3. Inequality and the Digital Divide

While the digital economy aims to increase everyone's access to information, knowledge, and opportunity, it is characterized by high inequality and the digital divide. For example, Rappitsch [17] indicates that while online opportunities are accessible to at least 80% of the population in developed countries, only 15% of people in less developed countries have access to the Internet. Furthermore, 30 out of every 100 people have fixed broadband subscriptions in developed countries, compared to 0.7 in Africa. These statistics indicate that those with limited access to digital technologies are being left behind as the digital economy grows, resulting in disparities in economic, social, and educational opportunities. The lack of infrastructure and technologies limits these people's ability to participate in the digital economy and access various options, including education, employment, and health [94]. Furthermore, these regions and communities tend to have low literacy and digital skills, especially among older adults and low-income communities [95].

This challenge undermines the ability of the digital economy to achieve the sustainable development goals of increasing equity and equality to eradicate poverty and improve the well-being of the global population.

4.5.4. Job Displacement and Insecurity

Digital technologies and automation are advancing rapidly, increasing the risk of job losses, and changing the job market. For example, manufacturing and agriculture industries that rely heavily on manual labor are replacing workers with robots and automation technologies [96]. These changes significantly impact individuals, communities and the environment and exacerbate existing inequalities. Furthermore, there are growing concerns about the potential for a skills gap, as employees may lack the necessary skills to adapt to new technologies and the changing job market [97]. With innovations appearing consistently, it has become a challenge for employees to maintain the desired skills to explore the opportunities presented [98]. This situation has led to a mismatch between workers' skills and those in demand, leading to unemployment and underemployment. The loss of jobs has a negative impact on the quality and standards of living, affecting the well-being of individuals.

4.5.5. Market Monopolies and Concentration of Power

As companies expand into international markets, concerns about the impact of market monopolies and the concentration of power are growing. Most large corporations have access to digital technologies and platforms and highly skilled talent, which allows them to continue to grow and dominate various sectors [99]. This dominance is often associated with the corporation's ability to limit competition, stifle innovation, and reduce consumer choice, negatively impacting the economy and social and environmental sustainability [100,101]. For example, monopolies can limit the diversity of products and services available to consumers and reduce incentives for sustainable practices [102]. Additionally, they may misuse or abuse their power through unethical business practices, manipulative algorithms, or data breaches. Low competition due to the concentration of power allows them to engage in unethical and unsustainable business practices without fear of retaliation, as consumers have limited access to alternative products or services. This challenge affects society and the environment, as evidenced by issues such as the exploitation of workers or the misuse of personal data.

4.5.6. Privacy and Data Protection

Privacy and data protection are essential issues in the digital economy that can undermine efforts to achieve sustainability. Most companies use digital information and communication technologies to collect, process and share large amounts of personal data, leading to privacy and data protection concerns [95]. For example, there have been numerous cases of unauthorized access to consumer personal information, data breach or sale of personal data to third parties [65]. These issues affect people's trust in digital technologies, ultimately impacting the adoption of sustainable practices.

5. Conclusions

The digital economy and sustainability are two related concepts that have become popular due to increased global concerns and awareness of climate change and increased development and adoption of technologies. Researchers, business leaders and policymakers are exploring the many ways digital technologies can be used to address sustainability issues. The multiple opportunities identified in this research include the development of renewable energy and sustainable technological solutions, smart cities and sustainable urbanization, circular economy and sustainable consumption. In addition, the digital economy presents innovations such as big data and analytics, platforms that facilitate the co-creation of value and consumer empowerment. These opportunities enabled by digital technologies allow companies to adopt sustainable business strategies and develop sustainable products, thus contributing to sustainable development.

Despite these opportunities, the digital economy presents several challenges that can hinder efforts to achieve sustainability goals. These challenges include increasing e-waste and pollution, high energy consumption and rising carbon emissions. For example, data centers require large amounts of electricity to power equipment and keep it running. Additionally, the increased use of personal devices, including smartphones, laptops and tablets, has increased energy demand and consumption. Other challenges include inequality and the digital divide, job insecurity, growing monopolies and concentration of power among a few large corporations, data protection and privacy concerns. Therefore, these issues must be addressed to enable optimal use of the opportunities presented in the digital economy to promote sustainability.

The intersection of the digital economy and sustainability presents many potential areas for future research. We point out some possible lines of research: (i) sustainable digital infrastructure (exploring ways to reduce energy consumption in data centers); (ii) digital solutions to sustainability challenges (identifying and developing solutions, which may include smart grids, precision agriculture and circular economy platforms); (iii) the impact of the digital economy on sustainable development (exploring how digital technologies and business models are affecting sustainable development goals such as poverty reduction, access to education and health, and environmental protection); (iv) digital sustainability metrics and standards (developing metrics and standards that can help companies and policy makers make more informed decisions about the sustainability of their digital activities); and (v) the role of regulation in promoting digital sustainability (exploring

EVOLUTION OF PROJECT MANAGEMENT IN THE DIGITAL ECONOMY	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Impact of Digital Finance on Regional Carbon Emissions: An E ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	5	2	7
Approaches Toward Building the Digital Enterprise and Sustai ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
How Does New Infrastructure Investment Affect Economic Growt ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Transition to Digital Entrepreneurship with a Quest of Susta ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	-	4
The Impact of COVID-19 Epidemie on the Development of the Di ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6	1	7
[Key Drivers of Urban Digital Economy Sustainable Developmen ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Current Status and Challenges of Green Digital Finance in Ko ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	1
A decision framework for incorporating the coordination and ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
CARBON EMISSIONS AND THE DEVELOPMENT OF DIGITAL ECONOMY: A P ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	-	3
Sustainable digital economy and trade adjusted carbon emissi ...	2022	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	7	2	9
Linkage Between Inclusive Digital Finance and High-Tech Ente ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	8	3	11
Digital transformation and sustainable oriented innovation: ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	8	2	11
The convergence model of education for sustainability in the ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6	-	6
Funding sustainable online news: Sources of revenue in digit...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	1	3
Contextuality and Intersectionality of E-Consent: A Human-ce ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	-	2
Digital economic development and its impact on economic grow ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	19	5	25
The COVID-19 Pandemic Not Only Poses Challenges, but Also Op ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	18	6	26
Digital financial inclusion sustainability in Jordanian cont...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6	11	3	20
Sustainability and digital transformation in the visegrad gr ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	17	4	25
Towards sustainable digital innovation of smes from the deve ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	17	7	28
Women entrepreneurship and sustainable business development: ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	3	4	9
Amazon's initiative transforming a non-contact society - Dig ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	1	4
Dependability and Sustainability Evaluation of Data Center E ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	-	1
Human capital in digital economy: An empirical analysis of c ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	6	16	9	31
Exploring the sustainability of the intermediary role in blo ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	9	1	12
Australia's Blue Economy Cooperative Research Centre	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Innovative Development of the Digital Economy: A View of Sus ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	-	3
Objective sustainability assessment in the digital economy: ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	3	1	6
Specificity of sustainability assessment for industrial ente ...	2021	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	1	-	4
Making Cyberspace towards Sustainability A Scientometric Rev ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	1	-	2

Green and Digital Economy for Sustainable Development of Urb ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	4	3	9
Emerging trends and drivers for knowledge-intensive economy	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	-	3
Robust proof of stake: A new consensus protocol for sustai na ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	13	14	4	34
Sustainable business model based on digital twin platform ne ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	10	17	4	33
Companies and UN 2030 Sustainable Development Goal 9 Industr ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	5	6	-	12
Stability and Sustainability of Cryptotokens in the Digital ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	-	1	3
Green and digital economy as a means for sustainable develop ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Methodological Approach to the Classification of Digital Eco ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	1	4
Digital future: Economic growth, social adaptation, and tech ...	2020	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	3	-	1	4
India Towards Digital Revolution (Security and Sustainabilit ...	2019	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1
Social business models in the digital economy: New concepts ...	2019	-	-	-	-	-	1	2	5	3	-	-	11
The problem of accounting non-economic characteristics when ...	2019	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	-	-	1
Analysis of the maturity of sustainable project management i ...	2019	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	1	1	-	-	3
Thai MOOC sustainability: Alternative credentials for digita ...	2019	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1	1	-	-	2
Material selection: Balancing sustainability and resilience	2018	-	-	-	-	-	1	-	-	-	-	-	1
Governance strategies for a sustainable digital world	2018	-	-	-	-	7	12	18	13	25	1	-	76
Agile Digital Skills Examination for the Digital Economy: Kn ...	2018	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	2	-	-	-	2
[The challenge of long-term tourism competitiveness in the a ...	2018	-	-	-	-	-	-	4	5	6	1	-	16
Digitalisation and the UN Sustainable Development Geais: Wha ...	2018	-	-	-	-	-	-	5	9	10	1	-	25
Consumer empowerment in the digital economy: Availing sustai ...	2017	-	-	-	-	7	4	5	13	8	1	-	38
Smart citizens for smart cities: Participating in the future	2016	-	-	1	2	2	1	7	7	2	-	-	22
Modularity and network integration: Emergent business models ...	2014	-	1	-	-	1	1	-	1	-	-	-	4
A conceptual model for sustaining competitative advantage in ...	2006	1	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1
Balance of nature? Sustainable societies in the digital econ ...	2001	-	-	1	-	-	-	-	1	-	-	-	2
Total		1	1	2	2	17	19	41	62	128	241	77	591

References

1. Pan, W., Xie, T., Wang, Z., & Ma, L. Digital economy: An innovation driver for total factor productivity. Journal of Business Research, 2022, 139, 303-311. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jbusres.2021.09.061>
2. Melnyk, L., Dehtyarova, I., Kubatko, O., Karintseva, O., & Derykolenko, A. (2019). Disruptive technologies for the transition of digital economies towards sustainability. Економічний часопис-XXI, (9-10), 22-30. <https://doi.org/10.21003/ea.V179-02>
3. Zhou, Z., Liu, W., Cheng, P., & Li, Z. The impact of the digital economy on enterprise sustainable development and its spatial-temporal evolution: an empirical analysis based on urban panel data in China. Sustainability, 2022, 14(19), 11948. <https://doi.org/10.3390/su141911948>
4. Jabłoński, M. Value migration to the sustainable business models of digital economy companies on the capital market. Sustainability, 2018, 10(9), 3113. <https://doi.org/10.3390/su10093113>

5. Vlasov, A. I., Shakhnov, V. A., Filin, S. S., & Krivoshein, A. I. Sustainable energy systems in the digital economy: Concept of smart machines. Entrepreneurship and Sustainability Issues, 2019, 6(4), 1975. http://doi.org/10.9770/jesi.2019.6.4\(30\))
6. Baas, J., Schotten, M., Plume, A., Côté, G., & Karimi, R. SCOPUS as a curated, high-quality bibliometric data source for academic research in quantitative science studies. Quantitative Science Studies, 2020, 1(1), 1-10. http://dx.doi.org/10.1162/qss\_a\_00019
7. Rosário, A.T.; Dias, J.C. Sustainability and the Digital Transition: A Literature Review. Sustainability 2022, 14, 4072. doi: 10.3390/su14074072
8. Rosário, A.T.; Raimundo, R.J.; Cruz, S.P. Sustainable Entrepreneurship: A Literature Review. Sustainability 2022, 14, 5556. doi: 10.3390/su14095556
9. 009 Rosário, A.T.; Dias, J.C. Industry 4.0 and Marketing: Towards an Integrated Future Research Agenda. J. Sens. Actuator Netw. 2022, 11, 30. doi: 10.3390/jsan11030030
10. Geng, Q., Wang, Y., & Wang, X. The impact of natural resource endowment and green finance on green economic efficiency in the context of COP26. Resources Policy, 2023, 80 doi:10.1016/j.resourpol.2022.103246
11. Tseng, C., & Shang, S. S. C. Exploring the sustainability of the intermediary role in blockchain. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(4), 1-21. doi:10.3390/su13041936
12. Bikmetova, Z. M., Degtyareva, V. V., & Makkaeva, R. S. Innovative development of the digital economy: A view of sustainability, 2021. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-70194-9_28
13. Apatova, N. V., Boychenko, O. V., Korolyov, O. L., Gavrikov, I. V., & Uzakov, T. K. Stability and sustainability of cryptocurrencies in the digital economy, 2020. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-66242-4_38
14. Deev, M., Gamidullaeva, L., Finogeev, A., Finogeev, A., & Vasin, S. The convergence model of education for sustainability in the transition to digital economy. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(20) doi:10.3390/su132011441
15. Feng, Z., Cheng, S., Qu, G., Cui, Y., & Ye, J. Research on the theoretical mechanism and promotion path of digital economy driving China's green development under "Double carbon" background. International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, 2023, 20(1) doi:10.3390/ijerph20010437
16. Apenko, S. N., & Fomina, I. A. Analysis of the maturity of sustainable project management in Russian enterprises in the transition to the digital economy. Journal of Siberian Federal University - Humanities and Social Sciences, 2019, 12(4), 530-544. doi:10.17516/1997-1370-0407
17. Rappitsch, C. Digital economy and sustainability. Oikos, 2017.
18. Cabeças, A. Evolution of project management in the digital economy. Techno Review. International Technology, Science and Society Review / Revista Internacional De Tecnología, Ciencia y Sociedad, 2022, 11(2) doi:10.37467/gkarevtechno.v11.3233
19. Zakaria, M., Aoun, C., & Liginlal, A. D. Objective sustainability assessment in the digital economy: An information entropy measure of transparency in corporate sustainability reporting. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(3), 1-18. doi:10.3390/su13031054
20. Yang, Y., & Cai, J. Carbon emissions and the development of digital economy: a perspective of spatial evolution. Journal of Environmental Protection and Ecology, 2022, 23(1), 409-416.
21. Ghalwash, S., Ismail, A., & Maurya, M. Scarabaeus sacer: An iconic green brand advocating sustainability in the era of digital economy and connectivity. Emerald Emerging Markets Case Studies, 2022, 12(4), 1-34. doi:10.1108/EEMCS-10-2021-0334
22. Watanabe, C., Akhtar, W., Tou, Y., & Neittaanmäki, P. Amazon's initiative transforming a non-contact society - digital disruption leads the way to stakeholder capitalization. Technology in Society, 2021, 65 doi:10.1016/j.techsoc.2021.101596
23. Grigorescu, A., Pelinescu, E., Ion, A. E., & Dutcas, M. F. Human capital in digital economy: An empirical analysis of central and eastern European countries from the european union. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(4), 1-21. doi:10.3390/su13042020
24. Hongyue, W., Koblianska, I., Zhengchuan, Z., & Xiumin, Y. Key drivers of urban digital economy sustainable development: The china case. [Основні фактори сталого розвитку цифрової економіки в містах: приклад Китаю] Scientific Horizons, 2022, 25(3), 76-84. doi:10.48077/scihor.25(3).2022.76-84
25. Denoncourt, J. Companies and UN 2030 sustainable development goal 9 industry, innovation, and infrastructure. Journal of Corporate Law Studies, 2020, 20(1), 199-235. doi:10.1080/14735970.2019.1652027
26. Abdalla, S., Amankwah-Amoah, J., & Badewi, A. Sharing-economy ecosystem: A comprehensive review and future research directions. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2023, 15(3) doi:10.3390/su15032145
27. Wang, Z., Liao, H. -, Lou, J., & Liu, Y. Making cyberspace towards sustainability A scientometric review for a cyberspace that enables green and digital transformation. Paper presented at the ACM International Conference Proceeding Series, 2020, 394-400. doi:10.1145/3444370.3444603
28. Zhang, J., Ma, X., & Liu, J. How can the digital economy and human capital improve city sustainability? Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(23) doi:10.3390/su142315617

29. Xie, H., Chang, S., Wang, Y., & Afzal, A. The impact of e-commerce on environmental sustainability targets in selected European countries. Economic Research-Ekonomska Istrazivanja, 2023, 36(1), 230-242. doi:10.1080/1331677X.2022.2117718
30. Wang, S., & Xu, Y. Complex network-based evolutionary game for knowledge transfer of social E-commerce platform Enterprise's operation team under strategy imitation preferences. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(22) doi:10.3390/su142215383
31. Cherepukhin, T. Y., Savelyeva, N. K., Kovalenko, A. M., & Ivanova, O. B. Conflicts of digital development's sustainability and resolving them through the balance of social, ecological, and economic interests during technological progress, 2022. doi:10.1108/S1572-832320220000030008
32. Aigner, I., Garai-Fodor, M., & Szemere, T. P. Singapore's journey as a digit-all-ized and innovative smart nation toward sustainability. Paper presented at the ICCCC 2022 - IEEE 10th Jubilee International Conference on Computational Cybernetics and Cyber-Medical Systems, Proceedings, 2022, 259-264. doi:10.1109/ICCC202255925.2022.9922714
33. Camboim, K., Ferreira, J., Melo, C., Araujo, J., Alencar, F., & Maciel, P. Dependability and sustainability evaluation of data center electrical architectures. Paper presented at the 15th Annual IEEE International Systems Conference, SysCon 2021 - Proceedings, 2021. doi:10.1109/SysCon48628.2021.9447132
34. Baranauskas, G., & Raišienė, A. G. Transition to digital entrepreneurship with a quest of sustainability: Development of a new conceptual framework. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(3) doi:10.3390/su14031104
35. Middleton, G. (2018). Material selection: Balancing sustainability and resilience. Advances in Civil Engineering Materials, 7(1), 221-236. doi:10.1520/ACEM20170119
36. Esses, D., Csete, M. S., & Németh, B. Sustainability and digital transformation in the Visegrad group of central European countries. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(11) doi:10.3390/su13115833
37. Baran, M. Sustainability and its place in the self-determination of information-based companies. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2020, 12(12) doi:10.3390/su12124991
38. Merdesheva, E. V., Titova, O. V., & Avkopashvili, P. T. Methodological approach to the classification of digital economies by environmental efficiency and sustainability criterion, 2020. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-47945-9_148
39. Linkov, I., Trump, B. D., Poinssatte-Jones, K., & Florin, M. Governance strategies for a sustainable digital world. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2018, 10(2) doi:10.3390/su10020440
40. Li, X., Cao, J., Liu, Z., & Luo, X. Sustainable business model based on digital twin platform network: The inspiration from haier's case study in china. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2020, 12(3) doi:10.3390/su12030936
41. Shkodinsky, S. V., Rykova, I. N., & Taburov, D. Y. Methodological approach to classification of digital technologies according to the criterion of ecological effectiveness and sustainability, 2020. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-39797-5_51
42. Khrais, L. T., & Alghamdi, A. M. Factors that affect digital innovation sustainability among SMEs in the middle east region. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(14) doi:10.3390/su14148585
43. Kirchherr, J., Reike, D., & Hekkert, M. Conceptualizing the circular economy: An analysis of 114 definitions. Resources, Conservation and Recycling, 2017, 127, 221-232. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.resconrec.2017.09.005>
44. Cheng, S., Fan, Q., & Huang, M. Strategic orientation, dynamic capabilities, and digital transformation of commercial banks: A fuzzy-set QCA approach. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2023, 15(3) doi:10.3390/su15031915
45. Black, S. Digital luxury towards a sustainable future? The oxford handbook of luxury business, 2020 (pp. 591-614) doi:10.1093/oxfordhb/9780190932220.013.22
46. Khan, A., & Ximei, W. Digital economy and environmental sustainability: Do information communication and technology (ICT) and economic complexity matter? International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, 2022, 19(19) doi:10.3390/ijerph191912301
47. Du, X., Zhang, H., & Han, Y. How does new infrastructure investment affect economic growth quality? empirical evidence from china. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(6) doi:10.3390/su14063511
48. Dicaprio, A., Sokolova, M. V., & Yang, J. The impact of decentralization on industrial hubs: Blockchain and the digital economy. The oxford handbook of industrial hubs and economic development, 2020 (pp. 1069-1085) doi:10.1093/oxfordhb/9780198850434.013.54
49. Jiao, S., & Sun, Q. Digital economic development and its impact on economic growth in china: Research based on the perspective of sustainability. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(18) doi:10.3390/su131810245
50. Osipov, V. S. Digital future: Economic growth, social adaptation, and technological perspectives, 2020. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-39319-9_32
51. Pei, J. Approaches toward building the digital enterprise and sustainable economic development: The moderating role of sustainability. Frontiers in Psychology, 2022, 13 doi:10.3389/fpsyg.2022.835602

52. Li, A., Wei, X., & He, Z. Robust proof of stake: A new consensus protocol for sustainable blockchain systems. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2020, 12(7) doi:10.3390/su12072824
53. Ma, Q., Khan, Z., Tariq, M., Işik, H., & Rjoub, H. Sustainable digital economy and trade adjusted carbon emissions: Evidence from China's provincial data. Economic Research-Ekonomska Istrazivanja, 2022, 35(1), 5469-5485. doi:10.1080/1331677X.2022.2028179
54. Jung, B., & Kowalski, T. Hybridization of time: Towards temporal sustainability of the digital economy, 2021. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-78825-4_14
55. Savchenko, A. B., & Borodina, T. L. Green and digital economy as a means for sustainable development of urban areas. Izvestiya Rossiiskoi Akademii Nauk.Seriya Geograficheskaya, 2020, (2), 310-320. doi:10.31857/S2587556620020120
56. Dunn, S. Micropower: Electrifying the digital economy. Greener Management International, 2000, (32), 43-56.
57. Dey, D., Srinivas, D., Panda, B., Suraneni, P., & Sitharam, T. G. Use of industrial waste materials for 3D printing of sustainable concrete: A review. Journal of Cleaner Production, 2022, 130749. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jclepro.2022.130749>
58. Human, S., & Kazzazi, M. Contextuality and intersectionality of E-consent: A human-centric reflection on digital consenting in the emerging genetic data markets. Paper presented at the Proceedings - 2021 IEEE European Symposium on Security and Privacy Workshops, Euro S and PW 2021, 2021, 307-311. doi:10.1109/EuroSPW54576.2021.00051
59. Niankara, I. Sustainability through open data sharing and reuse in the digital economy. Paper presented at the Proceedings - 2022 23rd International Arab Conference on Information Technology, ACIT 2022, 2022. doi:10.1109/ACIT57182.2022.9994191
60. Lv, Z., Iqbal, R., & Chang, V. Big data analytics for sustainability. Future Generation Computer Systems, 2018, 86, 1238-1241. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.future.2018.05.020>
61. Xue, Q., Feng, S., Chen, K., & Li, M. Impact of digital finance on regional carbon emissions: An empirical study of sustainable development in china. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(14) doi:10.3390/su14148340
62. Pirciog, S. C., Grigorescu, A., Lincaru, C., Popa, F. M., Lazarczyk Carlson, E., & Sigurdarson, H. T. Mapping European high-digital intensive sectors—regional growth accelerator for the circular economy. Frontiers in Environmental Science, 2023, 10 doi:10.3389/fenvs.2022.1061128
63. Raut, R. D., Mangla, S. K., Narwane, V. S., Gardas, B. B., Priyadarshinee, P., & Narkhede, B. E. Linking big data analytics and operational sustainability practices for sustainable business management. Journal of cleaner production, 2019, 224, 10-24. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jclepro.2019.03.181>
64. Ali, Q., Salman, A., Yaacob, H., Zaini, Z., & Abdullah, R. Does big data analytics enhance sustainability and financial performance? The case of ASEAN banks. The Journal of Asian Finance, Economics and Business, 2020, 7(7), 1-13. doi:10.13106/jafeb.2020.vol7.no7.001
65. Li, M., Wang, X., Wang, Z., Maqbool, B., Hussain, A., & Khan, W. A. Bibliometric analysis of the research on the impact of environmental regulation on green technology innovation based on CiteSpace. International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, 2022, 19(20) doi:10.3390/ijerph192013273
66. Gazzola, P., Colombo, G., Pezzetti, R., & Nicolescu, L. Consumer empowerment in the digital economy: Availing sustainable purchasing decisions. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2017, 9(5) doi:10.3390/su9050693
67. Penesis, I., & Whittington, J. Australia's blue economy cooperative research centre. Preparing a workforce for the new blue economy: People, products and policies, 2021 (pp. 335-348) doi:10.1016/B978-0-12-821431-2.00043-3
68. Stefan, D., Vasile, V., Oltean, A., Comes, C. -, Stefan, A. -, Ciucan-Rusu, L., . . . Timus, M. Women entrepreneurship and sustainable business development: Key findings from a swot-ahp analysis. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(9) doi:10.3390/su13095298
69. Sarfraz, M., Ivascu, L., & Abdullah, M. I. Editorial: Sustainable digital economy, entrepreneurship, and blockchain technology role in industrial-organizational psychology. Frontiers in Psychology, 2022, 13 doi:10.3389/fpsyg.2022.974415
70. Pimenova, E. M. Specificity of sustainability assessment for industrial enterprise functioning in the digital economy, 2021. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-53277-2_1
71. van der Velden, M. Digitalisation and the UN sustainable development goals: What role for design. Interaction Design and Architecture(s), 2018, (37), 160-174.
72. Bull, R., & Azennoud, M. Smart citizens for smart cities: Participating in the future. Proceedings of Institution of Civil Engineers: Energy, 2016, 169(3), 93-101. doi:10.1680/jener.15.00030
73. He, W., Li, W., & Deng, P. Legal governance in the smart cities of china: Functions, problems, and solutions. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(15) doi:10.3390/su14159738

74. Wang, K. Notice of retraction: On ICT and green growth from a sustainable perspective. 2011 International Conference on E-Business and E-Government, ICEE2011 - Proceedings, 2011, 2373-2376. doi:10.1109/ICEBEG.2011.5877033
75. Savchenko, A. B., & Borodina, T. L. Green and digital economy as a means for sustainable development of urban areas. Izvestiya Rossiiskoi Akademii Nauk.Seriya Geograficheskaya, 2020, (2), 310-320. doi:10.31857/S2587556620020120
76. Sharma, L., & Singh, V. India towards digital revolution (security and sustainability). Paper presented at the Proceedings of the 2nd World Conference on Smart Trends in Systems, Security and Sustainability, WorldS4 2018, 2019, 163-171. doi:10.1109/WorldS4.2018.8611564
77. Savchenko, A. B., & Borodina, T. L. Green and digital economy for sustainable development of urban areas. Regional Research of Russia, 2020, 10(4), 583-592. doi:10.1134/S2079970520040097
78. Stahel, W. R. The circular economy. Nature, 2016, 531(7595), 435-438. <https://www.nature.com/articles/531435a>
79. Geissdoerfer, M., Savaget, P., Bocken, N. M., & Hultink, E. J. The Circular Economy—A new sustainability paradigm? Journal of Cleaner Production, 2017, 143, 757-768. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jclepro.2016.12.048>
80. Korhonen, J., Honkasalo, A., & Seppälä, J. Circular economy: the concept and its limitations. Ecological economics, 2018, 143, 37-46. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.ecolecon.2017.06.041>
81. Jabłoński, A., & Jabłoński, M. Social business models in the digital economy: New concepts and contemporary challenges. Social business models in the digital economy: New concepts and contemporary challenges, 2019 (pp. 1-228) doi:10.1007/978-3-030-29732-9
82. Pasqualino, R., Demartini, M., & Bagheri, F. Digital transformation and sustainable oriented innovation: A system transition model for socio-economic scenario analysis. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(21) doi:10.3390/su132111564
83. Majumdar, S. K. A conceptual model for sustaining competitive advantage in digital economy. Paper presented at the WEBIST 2006 - 2nd International Conference on Web Information Systems and Technologies, Proceedings, SEBEG(EL/-) 2006, 59-65.
84. Liebenau, J. M., Elaluf-Calderwood, S. M., & Bonina, C. M. Modularity and network integration: Emergent business models in banking. Paper presented at the Proceedings of the Annual Hawaii International Conference on System Sciences, 2014, 1183-1192. doi:10.1109/HICSS.2014.153
85. Türkeli, S., Bleisteiner, I., Cenci, L., Dominicis, R. D., Demanet, E., Ramirez, G. L., & Müller, D. X economies: Towards comprehensive policy intelligence among economy visions and practices in europe and latin America, 2022. doi:10.1007/978-3-030-94293-9_17
86. Filippaios, F., & Benson, V. Agile digital skills examination for the digital economy: Knowledge and social capital management frameworks through social networking. The future of innovation and technology in education: Policies and practices for teaching and learning excellence, 2018 (pp. 55-69) doi:10.1108/978-1-78756-555-520181006
87. Hao, X., Wen, S., Xue, Y., Wu, H., & Hao, Y. How to improve environment, resources, and economic efficiency in the digital era? Resources Policy, 2023, 80 doi:10.1016/j.resourpol.2022.103198
88. Pradhan, P., Subedi, D. R., Khatiwada, D., Joshi, K. K., Kafle, S., Chhetri, R. P., . . . Bhuju, D. R. The COVID-19 pandemic not only poses challenges, but also opens opportunities for sustainable transformation. Earth's Future, 2021, 9(7) doi:10.1029/2021EF001996
89. Fayustov, A. A. E-Waste Management in a Global Digital Economy. In IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science, 2020, 459(3), p. 032007. IOP Publishing. doi:10.1088/1755-1315/459/3/032007
90. Koshta, N., Patra, S., & Singh, S. P. Sharing economic responsibility: Assessing end user's willingness to support E-waste reverse logistics for circular economy. Journal of Cleaner Production, 2022, 332, 130057. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.jclepro.2021.130057>
91. Li, J., Zhan, G., Dai, X., Qi, M., & Liu, B. Innovation and optimization logic of grassroots digital governance in china under digital empowerment and digital sustainability. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(24) doi:10.3390/su142416470
92. Zuo, L., Li, H., Gao, H., & Zhu, M. The sustainable efficiency improvement of internet companies under the background of digital transformation. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2022, 14(9) doi:10.3390/su14095600
93. Ducatel, K. Balance of nature? sustainable societies in the digital economy. Foresight, 2001, 3(2), 123-133. doi:10.1108/14636680110803058
94. Yousaf, Z., Radulescu, M., Sinisi, C. I., Serbanescu, L., & Păunescu, L. M. Towards sustainable digital innovation of smes from the developing countries in the context of the digital economy and frugal environment. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(10) doi:10.3390/su13105715
95. Grigorescu, A., Zamfir, A., & Mocanu, C. Emerging trends and drivers for knowledge-intensive economy. Management and Marketing, 2020, 15(2), 172-185. doi:10.2478/mmcks-2020-0011
96. Ernst, E. The AI trilemma: Saving the planet without ruining our jobs. Frontiers in Artificial Intelligence, 2022, 5 doi:10.3389/frai.2022.886561

97. Han, H., & Gu, X. Linkage between inclusive digital finance and high-tech enterprise innovation performance: Role of debt and equity financing. Frontiers in Psychology, 2021, 12 doi:10.3389/fpsyg.2021.814408
98. 098 Kumar, P., Mangla, S. K., Kazancoglu, Y., & Emrouznejad, A. A decision framework for incorporating the coordination and behavioral issues in sustainable supply chains in digital economy. Annals of Operations Research, 2022. doi:10.1007/s10479-022-04814-0
99. Lertpiromsuk, S., & Ueasangkomsate, P. Digitalization, sustainability and innovation: A systematic literature review. Paper presented at the 2022 IEEE Technology and Engineering Management Society Conference - Asia Pacific, TEMSCON-ASPAC 2022, 2022, 84-88. doi:10.1109/TEMSCON-ASPAC52831.2022.9916555
100. Meng, S., Wang, P., & Yu, J. Going abroad and going green: The effects of top management teams' overseas experience on green innovation in the digital era. International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, 2022, 19(22) doi:10.3390/ijerph192214705
101. Yates, S. J., Hepburn, P., Rice, R. E., Wessels, B., & Carmi, E. ESRC review: Economy and organizations. The oxford handbook of digital technology and society, 2020 (pp. 323-343) doi:10.1093/oxfordhb/9780190932596.013.16
102. Lutfi, A., Al-Okaily, M., Alshirah, M. H., Alshira'h, A. F., Abutaber, T. A., & Almarashdah, M. A. Digital financial inclusion sustainability in Jordanian context. Sustainability (Switzerland), 2021, 13(11) doi:10.3390/su13116312

Disclaimer/Publisher's Note: The statements, opinions and data contained in all publications are solely those of the individual author(s) and contributor(s) and not of MDPI and/or the editor(s). MDPI and/or the editor(s) disclaim responsibility for any injury to people or property resulting from any ideas, methods, instructions or products referred to in the content.